Wheat Prices in the Past.

Mr. C. B. Cole, of the Cole Milling Company, Chester, Illinois, whose business was established in 1839, writes to say that the papers have fallen into an error with many others in speaking of $2 per bushel as a record price for wheat. He says:

In March, 1867, we paid $3.75 per bushel for wheat and it sold in St. Louis at $3.86 per bushel. This was in depreciated paper money, but I have not the figures for price of gold at that time.

In March, 1877, wheat sold in St. Louis for $2.20. This was after resumption of gold payments.

In 1887 we sold flour at $19 per barrel at the mill and the same flour retailed in Boston at from $24 to $25 per barrel. So you see we are a good way from the top yet.

The records confirm Mr. Cole's figures. The lowest quotation of the gold dollar in paper currency in March, 1867, was $1.33 5-8, and the highest $1.40 3-8, and the mean between these would make about $2.73 per bushel, gold value. He is in error, however, about the date of the resumption of gold payments. The treasury resumed on January 1, 1879. The price of gold in March, 1877, ranged from 104 1-4 to 105 3-8.

Eggs Take a Drop.

Chicago, April 26.—With the placing of 162,000 cases of eggs on the market in Chicago and New York in the last two days, and continued heavy receipts from the Middle Western States, wholesale prices have dropped from 3 to 4 cents a dozen in this market, with extras quoted today at 32 1-2 to 33 1-2 cents a dozen. Further reductions are looked for, some dealers expressing the belief that eggs would drop to 25 cents or 26 cents a dozen retail in a short time.

Lord Northcliffe, the noted English publisher, who has paper mills in Newfoundland turning out 66,000 tons annually, is to turn it all over to the U. S. Federal Trade Commission to sell to small publishers at a reasonable price. As Harry Sommers would say, there is still an "if" in the proposition.

Keeping Yourself Well

THE FIRST STEP

Usually the first indication of a lowering of health is found in the bowels and liver. Something goes wrong—we eat too much, or work too hard—and the bowel action weakens or the liver is sluggish. That heavy feeling on arising in the morning, dryness of the throat, with bad taste, a slight headache, dull eyes—all show that food has fermented in the intestines, and that the body is manufacturing poisons instead of good blood.

Clear it all out. Give the stomach and bowels a fresh start. Encourage the liver to go to work. Manalin does all of this, without gripping or weakening. It's the ideal laxative and liver tonic, because it follows Nature's plan, without discomfort, inflammation or forming a habit. Constipation may be overcome with its use.
